

Perfect

Hair

As you spray that unruly hair the micro computers take the role of tiny solar panels. They quickly convert the energy from a light source in your proximity into electricity to power the rest of the amazing capabilities of the spray. As an added bonus it eliminates frizz, via the ions traveling down your hair, leaving your hair silky smooth.

Earring

This is the CPU of our system. Here all of your settings are stored. It holds a 256 terabytes of memory allowing you to store movies, photos, music and more!
It is also the docking location of the particles that are low on energy since it always has some type of contact with your hair, which supplies the energy.

Eyes

When the spray is in contact with your eyelashes it elongates them but that's not all. As you blink a very thin transparent layer forms over your eye. This allows you to control your "Perfect" system. The interface is displayed in front of your eyes allowing you to see the options you have for color, music and the control of the rest of the system. In addition the lens allows you to see information that you have stored or play videos. Right on your eye!

Skin

The micro computers travel to the bumps or color distortion in your skin filling them in and changing color to match your settings. You can adjust the color of your blush and the micro - computers will adjust their color.

Lips

You can specify the color and shine of your lips at your hearts desire. The micro - computers adjust their color and shine accordingly. They also seal in the moisture keeping your lips from drying out in the sun or in the cold.

A spray is made up of millions of tiny smart computer particles powered by the natural energy and interfacing with a small chip located in your earring.
